Lyrics: Ryan Safarian

I have given some my soul
To tunnel endlessly
Echoes reminding me
Bouncing their thought and their cause on the ceiling
When an old lie
Turns lie young
Pressured to part with finally
The part of me

Watching you wait for something bigger
Would likely feel this toll
Count the blessing of those who have been here
I'm enlivened to see this road
Got a bitterness
I'll force it whiten
Though I've been treading so long
Remind me it
Remind me it

I've covered the breaking tide
Swallowed my endless pride
Learning to pray for something brittle

I rest

Those often be their own...
My creator
My own measure
My supposed glorious side
My derailleur
My oppressor
My opposing Jekyll and Hyde

I created all your fears and all your strides
